Salon Rétromobile, Paris - On Friday 10 February, collectors and visitors to the Salon Rétromobile who attended this year's sale by Artcurial Motorcars enjoyed a remarkable event. The auction, taken by the acclaimed trio of Hervé Poulain, Matthieu Lamoure and Pierre Novikoff realised 34 847 709 € / 36 398 571 $, with 78 % of all lots sold. The next day, the Automobilia sales totaled 684 225 € / 725 278 $. In total, the result of Rétromobile 2017 by Artcurial Motorcars fetched 35 531 934 € / 37 663 850 $. The overall sales total was up 46 % on last year's event, (excluding the exceptional 1957 Ferrari 335 Sport Scaglietti that fetched 32.1M€, the highest ever auction price for a car in Europe). This result confirms the continued strong development of the Artcurial Motorcars team.

The largest annual collectors' car sale in continental Europe once again drew large crowds. Over 500 people registered to bid in the room, and some 18 nationalities were represented. Over 3,000 packed into the saleroom and another 15,000 people followed the sale live on the internet, as the 154 lots came under the hammer in the drive-through auction. This marathon sale lasted nearly 8 hours!

There were four new world records in this year's event, with 59 lots selling for over 100 000 €, 11 over 500 000 €, and 7 that fetched over 1M€.

« As Johnny Hallyday said in his song Cadillac, « the heart is an engine ». Artcurial Motorcars' engine has the ability to bring together the entire collectors' car market every year in Paris. In front of a 3 000-strong audience of car lovers, we brought the sale to life and our results demonstrate a market that remains strong and stable. »

Matthieu Lamoure,
Director, Artcurial Motorcars

« The current market shows both a robustness and a real vitality. The Hervé Ogliaastro Collection sold really well, as demonstrated by the Bugatti Atalante (lot 27) that made twice its estimate! There was something for everyone in this sale, from the famous Dino, that made the highest price, to a Renault 4CV that changed hands for the lowest sum! »

Maître Hervé Poulain,
Honorary Chairman, Artcurial

The star, it's Ferrari!

The highly anticipated star of the sale, the 1966 Ferrari 206 P Berlinette Speciale by Pinin Farina (lot 87), appeared in the saleroom to huge applause. This unique model, the first Dino prototype, showcased the coachbuilder's talents to perfection and its design, styling and history was fully documented in the sale catalogue. The car was originally donated by the family of Pinin Farina to the ACO (Automobile Club de l'Ouest) at Le Mans. After a tense ten-minute bidding battle between three bidders in the room, the car was sold to a European collector for 4 390 400 € / 4 653 824 $ - a significant sum for an exceptional Ferrari.

Another superb masterpiece, the 1948 Ferrari 166 Spyder Corsa Scaglietti (lot 125), also attracted huge interest in the room. This outstanding barchetta, an important part of early Ferrari history, is eligible for all major historic events and changed hands for 2 960 400 € / 3 138 024 including premium.

Racing and rallying...

There were several rally cars starring in the sale, including lot 92, the exceptional 1972 Alpine A110 Berlinetta GR4, known as the "Defense Mondiale". This well-known Alpine participated several times in Tour Auto, driven by Jean Ragnotti, who was at the sale to introduce it and describe the car's outstanding racing provenance. Bidders in the room and on the telephone fought over the lot, which finally changed hands for double its estimate, selling for 298 000 € / 315 880 $ including premium.

Also used to starring on the podium was lot 95, the 1982 Renault 5 Turbo belonging to Jean Ragnotti. In one of the key moments of the sale, the car was introduced by the "gentleman des rallies" who was warmly applauded by the crowd. The car sold for 321 800 € / 341 108 $ including premium and Ragnotti shook the hand of the successful bidder. In a wonderful and unexpected gesture, he handed the lucky new owner his period racing overalls.

The generosity of Johnny Hallyday

This year, the star of auction houses, Artcurial Motorcars, welcomed the star of rock, Johnny Hallyday, for a special charity sale. The singer had donated two of his most precious objects, to be sold on behalf of the charity "La Bonne Etoile". Matthieu Lamoure made an emotional introduction to these two lots, the 1989 Harley Davidson Softail Springer (lot 126) and the 1953 Cadillac Series 2 cabriolet customised by Boyd Coddington (lot 127).

The Rétromobile 2017 sale by Artcurial Motorcars

The iconic American machines with wonderful history appeared on the stage to the sound of “Allumer Le Feu”, a much loved Hallyday song. Bids for the singer’s favourite motorcycle, the only one he took to Los Angeles, started at 20 000 €. It attracted multiple bids and eventually sold for 280 000 € / 356 160 $. The Cadillac, which may have inspired the eponymous song, changed hands for 270 000 € / 3001 941 $. The total of 550 000 € / 583 000 $ will go to “Le Bonne Etoile” to build orphanages and improve the lives of underprivileged children in Vietnam.

The collections

Artcurial Motorcars once again proved to be the Auction House to sell collections, offering unrivalled expertise and close ties with important collectors. Amongst the lots were many motor cars that were fresh to the market, another speciality of the auction house.

The Hervé and Martine Ogliastro Collection of nine lots sold for 4 893 900 / 5 187 534 $, including the 1936 Talbot-Lago T150C (lot 30) which sold for 1 610 500 € / 1 124 554 $.

The “Raging Bull” Collection of 5 exceptional Lamborghinis, including a rare Miura SV (lot 75), also attracted much attention and fetched a total of 2 960 400 / 3 138 014 $.
